Great journalism.
Great company.

Ana Menéndez, Metro columnist

The Miami Herald
Miami, Florida

There are columnists who try to persuade. Some who amuse. And others who simply assure us that someone else has passed this way before, noticed the same things we have. Ana Menéndez, the daughter of Cuban immigrants and an award-winning author of two books of fiction, writes the dialogue between a city and its people.

It's all part of creating a leading news company for the 21st century. That's why McClatchy looks to NAHJ and similar organizations to help ensure that talented professionals always are available.
